OUTLINE HEALTH

REORGANIZATION

Reorganization of Ohio's local health administrative machinery in accordance with the Hughes health district law is being taken up by the State Department of Health.

The Department announced today that by the time the new law goes into effect August 10, it will have laid before Ohio mayors and township trustees chairmen the program which they must carry out to comply with the law. The new system is scheduled to go into operation next January 1.

Each county is established as a single health district by the Hughes law, with the exception that every city of 25,000 population or over in 1910 will be an independent municipal health district. A district of either type must employ a full-time health commissioner, at least one public health nurse and at least one clerk, with such additional officials as may be necessary. The health commissioner will be the executive officer of the district board of health, which will have powers similar to those of the present municipal board of health, although more extensive.

In the municipal districts the boards of health will continue as at present and only change in organization will be that the health commissioner must serve on a full-time basis, that nurses and clerks must be employed and that all appointments must be made under civil service rules.

In the county, or general districts the reorganization will begin with the formation of a district advisory council, composed of the mayor of every municipality and the chairman of the trustees of every township in the district. This council is to choose a five-member board of health, which will proceed to appoint a health commissioner and other employees, under civil service rules, and to draw up a budget for next year. The budget must be passed upon by the advisory council and after such approval the estimated expenditures will be apportioned among the participating townships and municipalities on a basis of population.

After July 1, the State Department of Health will have a staff of eight district supervisors in the field to advise and consult with local officials in effecting the organization. These supervisors will continue in office after the reorganization to co-ordinate and standardize the local health activities of the various districts.

EARLY BLIGHT HITS

OHIO POTATO CROP

Early blight has been reported to the department of botany at the Ohio Experiment station, Wooster, as being particularly prevalent in the potato-growing sections of the state. Evidences of the blight are shown by browning of the leaves and dying at the tips. The blight decreases the yield, plant pathologists point out, but does not cause the tubers to rot.

The disease is favored by rainy weather and cool nights. Specialists point out that the disease may be controlled by the application of the Bordeaux mixture, 4-4-50, on the potatoes every ten days.

It has been found possible to control potato beetles easily while spraying for blight by introducing 2 pounds of powdered arsenate of lead or 4 pounds of the paste to each 50 gallons of spray used.
